VOL. X. No. 10. NEW YORK, September 2, 1876. WHOLE No. 242

Will be Published Thursday, September 14th.

A NEW BOOK BY DR. HOLLAND.

EVERY-DAY TOPICS:

A BOOK OF BRIEFS.

By Dr. J. G. HOLLAND, author of "Bitter Sweet," "Kathrina," "Story of Sevenoaks," etc., etc. One vol., 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

The same sound sense and practical wisdom as applied to the affairs of every-day life, which secured for Gold Foil, Lessons in Life, etc., such wide and enduring popularity, distinguish this volume in a still more marked degree. It contains careful selections from the articles written by Dr. Holland for the department, "Topics of the Time," in Scribner's Monthly, during the last five years. Only those papers possessing permanent value and general interest here find a place; but the range of topics is surprisingly wide and extremely attractive. Upon them all Dr. Holland expresses himself with that grace, directness, earnestness, and force which have given him so strong a hold upon such a multitude of readers.

 N. B.—The trade are requested to send in their orders at once for this volume. The demand for it is sure to be large, and the publishers are desirous of filling all orders promptly.

OF THE WORKS OF

STANDARD ENGLISH AUTHORS,

FROM THE RIVERSIDE PRESS.

MESSRS. HURD AND HOUGHTON take pleasure in announcing to the trade that they are about to commence the issue of new and handsome editions of the works of three of the foremost writers of the English language, namely, the Waverley Novels of SIR WALTER SCOTT, the Works of CHARLES DICKENS, and the Writings of THOMAS DE QUINCEY. The volumes will be carefully printed on fine tinted paper, and bound in attractive styles. It is proposed to publish two volumes each of Scott and Dickens, and one volume of De Quincey, on the first day of every month until the series are complete. Booksellers desiring to subscribe for either or all the sets are requested to send in their orders immediately, that the successive volumes may be sent to them monthly, as published, enabling them to supply their customers promptly, and to sell to many who do not care to buy an entire set at once outright. Particulars as to number of volumes, price, and order of publication are given below. The issue will commence on the first of September.

THE WAVERLEY NOVELS.

BY SIR WALTER SCOTT.

RIVERSIDE EDITION, in twenty-five volumes, with numerous steel-engravings after designs by Birket Foster, Darley, Billings, Landseer, Harvey, and Faed. 12mo. Per volume, $1.50.

The Riverside Edition of the Waverley Novels will contain nearly fifty steel-engravings, including a portrait of Scott, and will be supplemented by the "Tales of a Grandfather," and Lockhart's "Life of Sir Walter Scott," each in three volumes, and containing, together, thirteen additional steel-plate illustrations. It will also contain all the latest notes and corrections of the author, an ample glossary, a complete index of all the personages and incidents of the various tales, and some curious additions, especially in Guy Mannering and the Bride of Lammermoor. The notes are at the foot of the page—a great convenience to the reader.

THE WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS.

NEW ILLUSTRATED LIBRARY EDITION, in twenty-nine volumes, with Introductions by EDWIN P. WHIPPLE. Over five hundred and fifty illustrations on steel by the best English and American artists. 12mo. Per volume, $2.

The publishers take pleasure in announcing that Mr. Edwin P. Whipple, the distinguished essayist and critic, has consented to prepare a series of Introductions to the several novels comprised in this edition, which will add greatly to their value and interest. They will be partly biographical and partly historical, giving an account of Dickens' career and the circumstances under which he wrote each story. Pickwick Papers will be the first volume issued, and in this Mr. Whipple will describe Dickens' early life and the furor created by his first literary successes.

The New Illustrated Library Edition will contain all the illustrations which have enriched the "Riverside" and "Illustrated Household" editions of Dickens, and some of Dickens' later short stories.

THE WORKS OF THOMAS DE QUINCEY.

RIVERSIDE EDITION, in twelve volumes, with steel portrait of De Quincey. Crown 8vo. Per volume, $1.75.

The Riverside Edition is the only authorized American edition of De Quincey's works, having been prepared originally with the author's express approval, and being now revised and enlarged so as to include the new material contained in the latest Edinburgh edition, which was edited and revised by the author. At the same time the arrangement of the several productions is made more systematic and orderly than was possible during the author's life-time, when the collection was made at different intervals, and under many difficulties. In the final volume an introduction to the series will set forth the plan carried out in this new arrangement, and the same volume will also contain a very full index to the entire series, making it, when complete, the best edition of De Quincey's works ever issued.

LOOK over your stock and pack up for the the Book Fair!

HENRY HOLT & Co. have procured from J. B. Lippincott & Co. the plates and rights of Gasc's "Pocket French-English Dictionary," of which they will issue a new edition, at $1.50. This is one of the best, perhaps the best, of the small dictionaries, and it is therefore good news that also a larger dictionary by the same compiler is in preparation for early issue, two vols. in one, 12mo, at $4.25.

THE Appletons will shortly publish, by subscription, an authorized life of Samuel J. Tilden, 12mo, $2, with a brief sketch of Gov. Hendricks, and new portraits on steel of both the candidates. A new novel by Miss Yonge, "The Three Brides," is also nearly ready.

THE event of next week will be the issue of the concluding volume of "Daniel Deronda." No story for years has called forth so general attention and discussion. A one volume edition, paper, octavo, will follow the issue of the library edition. Wilkie Collins' novel, "The Two Destinies," is also nearly ready.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish, about the middle of September, a new popular edition of Plutarch's Lives, in a single octavo volume. It will be printed in double columns, from type of good size, and will be furnished with a full index, which Mr. Crocker, of the Literary World, is preparing. In this popular form, and with so important an addition to its value as Mr. Crocker's index will surely be, Plutarch will have a new lease of fame and usefulness, and will carry fresh instruction and delight to thousands of households.ROBERTS BROS. will publish "Mercy Philbrick's Choice," the first volume of the No Name Series, about September 15th. Several names have already been guessed in connection with the authorship, and very excellent names too; but unless the writer reveals himself (or herself) by the style or the story, guessing will be a waste of intellectual effort. The story is said to be a work of genius, and for both the publishers and the public it is to be hoped this is so.

Probably at the same time with "Mercy Philbrick's Choice," Roberts Bros. will issue the first volume of Landor's "Imaginary Conversations." It will contain the Classical Dialogues, Greek and Roman, which are masterpieces of literature in their marvellous comprehension and reproduction of the thoughts of the statesmen and sages of antiquity, and in force and elasticity of expression. The volume will be of the same size as Hamerton's works, beautifully printed, and ought to be in every public and private library in America.

HURD & HOUGHTON announce new and handsome editions of the works of Scott, Dickens, and De Quincey, carefully printed on fine tinted paper, and bound in attractive style. They propose to publish two volumes each of Scott and Dickens and one volume of De Quincey on the first day of every month, until the series is complete. For particulars see their advertisement in this issue.

J. R. OSGOOD & Co. will put "Fanshawe" and "The Dolliver Romance" into a single volume, making the twelfth and last in the library edition of Hawthorne. Both volumes will be added to the "Little Classic" edition, completing that in twenty-three volumes.

JAS. MILLER will publish, about September 15th, reissues, in new shape, of several of the valuable standards controlled by him. Mrs. Browning's works, in four volumes, will be put into shape similar to "Little Classics," at $1.25 per volume, and "Festus," "The Christian Year," and Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome" will be issued in like style, under the title of the "Handy Volume Editions."

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. have nearly ready "The Absent Lord of Rocheforte; or, Peasant and Prince," by Miss Catherine A. Warfield, to be issued in uniform style with the successful book by the same author, "The Household of Bouverie."

EDMUND YATES' new novel, "Going to the Bad," is promised by W. F. Gill & Co. for next week.

The result of the competition may suggest to some of our readers doubts of the justice and advisability of admitting an unlimited number of competitors from any one house. In the present case the house of D. Appleton & Co. contributed six lists, four of which head the roll of honor. Now whether this is simply a coincidence or the result of mutual consultation, or, more likely, the result of similar experience, it is difficult to say; still more difficult is it to decide whether a line should be drawn to exclude more than a specified number or proportion from any one house, and, if so, where and how it should be drawn. Before discussing this question, it may be well to present the results of this competition and some analogies of the returns, which will throw light on this point, especially as the criticism on our prize system above suggested has been made before by experienced members of the trade.

The highest possible count by popular vote, as above shown, is 193. Mr. John B. Fredericks, already known as the successful competitor for our twenty dollar novel prize, and Mr. James Van Norden Peck, count 179. We have awarded the prize to Mr. Fredericks, his list containing every book out of the twelve by popular vote but No. 5, "Daniel Deronda," for which he substitutes "Family Secrets," counting 4. The omission of "Daniel Deronda" was evidently due not to an error of judgment as to its salability, but to the construction of the rules. We have no doubt that but for the fact that the complete work was not yet published (and perhaps also the direction in the previous novel question to omit George Eliot's books), "Daniel Deronda" would have headed the list with a full vote. It may be laid down as a general principle that books just issued, or but partly issued, should not be counted in on these prize questions, since their salability is not yet tested, but an exception must be made in the case of books which take the reading world by storm, and the first orders for which show results as large as the full sales of books which have been much longer out. Mr. Peck gives in place of Nos. 9, 10, and 12, counting 34, Nos. 13, 14, and "Land of the Sky," counting 20. Mr. E. Cortelyou counts 178, giving in place of Nos. 9 and 10, counting 24, No. 19 and "An Odd Couple," counting 9. Mr. James F. Clonan counts 176, giving in place of Nos. 9 and 10, counting 24, "Family Secret" and "An Odd Couple," counting 7. The lowest count was 124.

In order to show the bearing of the Appleton vote on this question, we have placed in parenthesis on the popular vote list the count of each work as it would be were but one representative (Mr. Fredericks) admitted from the Appleton delegation. By comparing notes he would doubtless have retained "Daniel Deronda," securing a count of 145, whereas now with out it he only counts 131. The highest count then would have been obtained by Mr. George Thomas, with J. B. Lippincott & Co., counting 137 (full vote 173). He substitutes for Nos. 7, 11, 12, counting 25 (full vote 37), Nos. 16, 18, and "Pausanias," counting 17 (full vote 17). The next, Mr. Fredericks', is shown above. The next are the lists of Mr. William C. Bush, with W. J. Widdleton, counting 130 (full vote 169), and Mr. E. L. Thurston, with Tibbits and Randall, Providence, also counting 130 (full vote 161); the former substituting for Nos. 7, 9, 10, 11, counting 40 (full vote 51), Nos. 13, 14, 17, and "Pausanias," counting 25 (full vote 27); the latter substituting for Nos. 3, 8, 11, 12, counting 38 (full vote 55), Nos. 15, 16, 20, and "Helen's Babies," counting 23 (full vote 23). The lowest count (full vote 124) would be 99.

In justice to the Appleton vote as specified above, it should be added that, taking the works on their lists at the reduced figures, Mr. Peck would count 135; Mr. Cortelyou, 134; and Mr. Clonan, 126.

The first point to be considered is whether the exclusion of several individual competitors from any one house would produce a materially different list by popular vote. In this case, certainly, the Appleton closely approaches the latter. The first ten works are given in the same order by the other houses, "Daniel Deronda" only gaining one point; Nos. 11 and 12 are placed a few points lower on the list, but the 56 votes of the remaining 8 works are reduced only by 3. The total result of the highest counting works is essentially the same.

But there is a more general question behind this, whether, even if so large a representation did affect the list by popular vote, it would be wise or just to limit the competition. One point should not be overlooked. Should only one combined competition of any one house be admitted, the chances grow still smaller for smaller houses. For the combined force of a large house may, by comparing notes, produce the best lists, while individual competition will rather prevent mutual consultation. In this case, for instance, the Appleton delegation surely would have made the highest count (at least 145), which individually they have not. And it is to be remembered that the largest distributing houses necessarily employ the largest force, and naturally also afford the largest experience and thus the better chances for successful competition. The sales of jobbers in the large cities really represent the whole country in their scope.

It seems to us, therefore, not unfair that unrestricted competition should still be permitted, yet we should be glad to have the opinions of any who differ from us among those interested. It may be stated, for the encouragement of competitors from smaller houses, that, of the 33 mentions as first, second, or third (or tying therewith) in our first ten questions, only 14 in all went to the three houses whose representation has been largest, namely: 6 to the Appletons' and 4 each to Dillingham's and the Lippincotts'.

Though we had little occasion to make use of our rule concerning the arrangement of works on each list according to their popularity in the opening of the competition, we add, for curiosity's sake, a list of those works which held the place of honor on the various lists. The first place is given to "Daniel Deronda" by 10; to "Her Dearest Foe" by 6; to "Sights and Insights" by 3; to "Edith Lyle" by 2. The second to "Her Dearest Foe" by 6; "Comin' thro' the Rye," "Sights and Insights," "Edith Lyle," "Silver Pitchers," each by 3; "Ishmael" by 2. The third to "Edith Lyle" by 4, the remainder scattered in 1 and 2.

This shows that the result would not be greatly altered were a more complicated method of award adopted, and that the criticisms of our German contemporary have comparatively little foundation.

THE questions raised as to the relative standing of booksellers in New Haven have led to sharp controversy, as our readers will find from our correspondence columns. We can not but regret the shape which matters have taken, and for ourselves we have no personal knowledge of the rights and wrongs of the case, which should properly be brought before the general Arbitration Committee for adjudication. But if the other New Haven booksellers are undertaking to hold our correspondent to the A. B. T. A. rules, while evading the responsibilities of membership themselves, they do not come into court with the standing they should have. It should be remembered on both sides (and in places other than New Haven), that the breakage of a rule by other parties does not justify the breaking of one's own word as given either by direct pledge to hold to the agreement or indirectly by membership in the Association. It is especially stated in the twenty per cent rule that this liberty is to be taken only on notification to the Arbitration Committee, so that all dealers locally interested may be put on equal footing. In the letter printed herewith, Mr. Phillips makes specific and direct charges over his own name, which demand direct answer. As to attempts to "run him out of New Haven," he may be sure that the A. B. T. A. would not tolerate its rules being made a means for such a purpose. But both sides must be heard—and the other side has the floor.

WE trust the retail trade will do their very best to make the coming Book Fair an entire success. Those who believe in reform should prove their faith by their works. There seems to be prospect of a good offering, and the sale of stereotype plates is to be followed, we hear, by an extensive sale of stationery, so that there will be plenty of inducements for buyers to attend.

WE reverse the order of current prize questions for convenience's sake, and present this week No. 13 instead of 11 or 12. The replies to these will be given together, either in our next issue or in the fall announcement number.

FAIR PLAY.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Aug. 26, 1876.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly :

May I be permitted to inquire if the writer of the article in your issue of August 19th, over the signature of "Old-Line Bookseller," is a member of the A. B. T. A., and if he has not been importuned to join the Association and repeatedly refused to do so?

If I am correct in my surmise, the author of that article began business as an itinerant bookseller, and, selecting this city as a basis of operations, opened a "CHEAP BOOK STORE," and still retains the sign above his door.

If you will allow me the space, I would like to say a few words in reply to "Old-Line Bookseller's" letter.

I came here last November with the intention of doing a fair and legitimate business, and finding that my predecessor had been selling at 25 per cent discount, I instructed my clerks to keep strictly within the rules of the A. B. T. A. Shortly after this I called on Judd & White, of this city. Inquiring for Mr. Judd, and learning that he was not in, I left my name with the clerk, stating that I would call again, with a view to arranging a uniformity of prices. Early the next morning a messenger arrived from Mr. Judd to say "that he did not wish to have any thing to do with me." Such was the reception I met with in my endeavors to further "the cause."

On the 30th of December the booksellers of this city, headed by Judd & White, signed a circular letter, and sent one to each of the publishers and jobbers in New York and Boston. In this document they charged me with retailing all books, including the newest, at discounts varying from 20 to 30 per cent. This they KNEW TO BE FALSE.

"Do you not think, Mr. Editor, that the trade of this city have displayed a more than Roman stoicism?"

I will cite two instances, and leave your readers to judge who is the underseller.

At the beginning of the last term of Yale College I supplied 120 copies of Whiton's

"Lysias" (published by Ginn Brothers at $1.50 retail), charging the students $1.25 per copy. Judd & White announced by a placard on their bulletin-board that they would sell the same book for NINETY-FIVE CENTS.

A lady of high social standing in this city purchased from me a set of Bancroft's History of the United States (new edition, 6 vols., sheep), retail price $18. When she settled her account she remarked that Judd & White offered her the same work (after she had purchased) for fourteen dollars.

These are facts, and can be proven, and are only two instances out of a number.

"Do you not think, Mr. Editor, that the trade of this city have displayed a more than Roman stoicism?"

Now, Mr. Editor, I will only say that I am neither "underseller" nor "book-butcher," and having given my word of honor to several prominent booksellers that I would keep within the rules of the Association, I have kept my word, notwithstanding that a member of one of the largest publishing houses in the country told me to sell at 25 per cent if the others did. I am willing to go before any arbitration committee and let it judge who is the underseller.

As a prominent bookseller of your city (who had heard both sides of the case) remarked, "It looks like a case of persecution."

And what appears to justify the inference is that Mr. Judd openly declared that he would "run me out of the city," or words to that effect.

Regarding O.-L. B.'s remarks concerning my liabilities, compromise, etc., etc., I merely say that he has drawn largely on his powers of conjecture.

I do not think it fair, Mr. Editor, that I should be selected as the scapegoat for the sins of men with whom I have had no connection, or as a target for the spleen of such "worthies" as "Old-Line Bookseller" and his associates. Respectfully,

H. G. PHILLIPS,

"The friend, successor, and protégé of the great Boston lottery-man."

THE LIFE, PUBLIC SERVICES, AND SELECT SPEECHES OF RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, by J. Q. Howard (Robert Clarke & Co.) This work was prepared under the special sanction of Governor Hayes by a biographer of his own selection, to whom he afforded every facility for the production of a correct and reliable narrative. It may be accepted, therefore, as a trustworthy record of the life of the Presidential candidate of the Republican party. It contains an excellent portrait of Gov. Hayes. 12mo, cloth, $1.25; paper covers, 75 c.

LESSONS IN ELEMENTARY MECHANICS, by Philip Magnus. With emendations and introduction by Prof. De Volson Wood. (John Wiley & Sons.) This little work, considered one of the best issued for beginners in mechanics, as very little knowledge of arithmetic and algebra is required to work out its problems, comes to us in a second edition, considerably improved by the additions of Prof. De Volson Wood. 16mo, cloth, $1.50.

THE MONEY QUESTION, by William A. Berkeley (Grand Rapids, Mich). This work is a study, from the point of view of the advocates of paper currency, of "the legal-tender paper monetary system of the United States." It has received the endorsement of some of the most prominent men in this country, such as Wendell Phillips and Peter Cooper, who recommend it as full of value and importance, and "of facts and excellent reading that bears very usefully on the great issue before the people of this country to-day." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

THE INTERCOLONIAL, by Sandford Fleming, C.E. (Dawson Brothers, Montreal.) This bulky volume represents the history of the Intercolonial Railway of British North America, connecting the Maritime Provinces with the Canadas, from its first suggestion in 1832 to its completion in 1876. It is written by the chief engineer of the road, and, beginning with its early history, traces the causes which prevented the adoption of a direct route, and reviews the negotiations which ended in the establishment of the Maine boundary. A brief description is also furnished of the character of the country through which the railway passes. A number of maps and illustrations embellish the work. Sq. 8vo, cloth, $3.

THE FIRST CENTURY OF THE REPUBLIC: A Review of American Progress. (Harper & Bros.) The Centennial papers recently published in Harper's Magazine have now been gathered into a handsome large octavo volume, of open double-columned page, which forms one of the most useful and worthy of the contributions to Centennial literature. Its special excellence is that each subject has been treated by a leading expert, so that our best minds are at their best in it, as will be seen from the following schedule of papers: I. Introduction (Colonial Progress), by Eugene Lawrence. II. Mechanical Progress, by Edward H. Knight. III. Progress in Manufacture, by the Hon. David A. Wells. IV. Agricultural Progress, by Prof. Wm. H. Brewer. V. The Development of our Mineral Resources, by Prof. T. Sterry Hunt. VI. Commercial Development, by Edward Atkinson. VII. Growth and Distribution of Population, by the Hon. Francis a Walker. VIII. Monetary Development, by Prof. Wm. G. Sumner. IX. The Experiment of the Union, with its Preparations, by T. D. Woolsey, D.D., LL.D. X. Educational Progress, by Eugene Lawrence. XI. Scientific Progress: 1. The Exact Sciences, by F. A. P. Barnard, D.D., LL.D.; 2. Natural science, by Prof. Theodore Gill. XII. A Century of American Literature, by Edwin P. Whipple. XIII. Progress of the Fine Arts, by S. S. Conant. XIV. Medical and Sanitary Progress, by Austin Flint, M. D. XV. American Jurisprudence, by Benjamin Vaughan Abbott. XVI. Humanitarian Progress, by Charles L. Brace. XVII. Religious Development, by the Rev. John F. Hurst, D.D. This is a book which excellently represents the Harper house, as in turn representative of the American people. 8vo, cloth, $5; sheep, $5 50; half morocco, $7.25.

HISTORICAL STUDIES, by Eugene Lawrence. (Harper & Bros.) Mr. Lawrence is one of the most vigorous polemics of our day, and his many essays in the Harpers' publications have had the single aim of checking what he considers the dangerous influence of Rome by a series of historical exposés. As collected in this goodly volume, he hopes they may furnish "a useful outline of the slow advance of knowledge and the decay of ecclesiastical tyranny. The chief aim of the Roman Church has been the destruction of the intellect. The chief result of the overthrow of persecution has been the rapid growth of the popular mind." His special subjects are "The Bishops of Rome," "Leo and Luther," "Loyola and the Jesuits," "Ecumenical Councils," "The Vandois," "The Huguenots," "The Church of Jerusalem," "Dominic and the Inquisition," "The Conquest of Ireland," and "The Greek Church," which he treats with popular attractiveness. There is an index, which might well be more full. 8vo, cloth, uncut edges and gilt top, $3.

LEGAL RECREATIONS. NO. IV. THE LAW OF THE ROAD, by R. Vashon Rogers, Jr. (Sumner Whitney & Co.) This little series of the humors of the law is full of information and amusement most delightfully dovetailed together. This volume on the law of the road is specially adapted for general reading, as we all take to the road on foot or on horse, in the street-cars or in vehicles of more pretension, according to the condition of our purses, at all hours of the day and night. It is well, therefore, to be posted if an accident befall us, that the proper person may be sued at once for damages. This little book offers illustrations of every imaginable case in a really very entertaining manner. For the benefit of the profession notes accompany every case cited, while an index with a list of cases is found at the end of the work. 16mo, cloth, $1.50.

NOTES ON THE SETTLEMENT AND INDIAN WARS OF THE WESTERN PARTS OF VIRGINIA AND PENNSYLVANIA, by Joseph Doddridge. With a memoir of the author, by his daughter; edited by Alfred Williams. (Joel Munsell.) The notes of Dr. Doddridge having been long recognized as an authentic and valuable authority as to matters relating to the pioneer history of the West, it was deemed advisable to publish a new edition, as the work has been for some years out of print. In doing so the publishers have not encumbered the pages with the notes or illustrations derived from the investigations of later writers, thinking it better to let the work stand as it originally appeared. The memoir, in addition to particulars relating to the life of the author, contains many interesting facts concerning the early history of the West. 12mo, cloth, $2.

THE ULTIMATE GENERALIZATION (C. P. Somerby). This essay professes to set forth, under the name of "The Law of Correlation," a new scientific generalization, larger or more inclusive than that of evolution, thought not inconsistent with it—one which, if true, is the "climax of the inductive process" and the "basis of deduction sought by all philosophy," having a bearing upon every department of thought. The claim is addressed especially to thinkers of "the scientific faith," and the aim has been to present it in such compact language that thinkers can afford to give time to the book. 12mo, $1.50.

FROM DAWN TO SUNRISE, by Mrs. J. Gregory Smith. (Lovell, Adam & Co., N. Y.) The chief object of this work is to give the Christian a firmer hold upon the principles of his religion, and to prove to him their truth and their superhuman origin. With this idea in view, the author goes through a comparison with Christianity and the principal religions of the world, from the very oldest time to the present, seeking in every way to develop the finest points of Christianity, and to prove its superiority in its teachings over the doctrines of paganism, and to firmly establish its authenticity upon other evidences than those found in the Bible. 12mo, cloth.

WE have received from Mr. Aug. Berth. Auerbach, Stuttgart, a copy in German of T. W. Higginson's "Young Folks' History of the United States." It makes a very creditable appearance, being very handsomely printed, and very neatly gotten up in a pretty cloth binding with red edges.

MUSIC RECEIVED.—From John Church & Co., Cincinnati: "Honest Sam Tilden," campaign song and chorus, 30 cents; and "Could I but Tell Thee," song and chorus (music by Robert Challoner), 30 cents.

OFFICE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, A. B. T. A.,
121 Nassau st., N. Y.

August 30, 1876.

At a meeting of the Arbitration Committee, held Monday, Aug. 28th, 1876, Messrs. Charles T. Dillingham and J. S. Baker, of New York, were nominated members of that Committee in place of Messrs. Warren F. Draper and A. L. Bancroft, resigned.

After considerable discussion as to the meaning of the term "large buyer," it was resolved to postpone further consideration of the matter until the next meeting, to be held during the Book Fair, at which it is hoped all the members will be present.

OBITUARY.

WE have to record the death of Mr. Charles Converse Chatfield, the publisher and business manager of the New England Journal of Education, who died at New Haven, Ct., on Tuesday, Aug. 22, in his thirty-fifth year. Mr. Chatfield's has been a brief but busy life. From as early a period as his junior year at Yale, he became a publisher, uniting with others in publishing the Yale Courant, the first weekly college paper in the world, devoted to class and college interests. After graduating he continued the Yale Courant under the comprehensive title of The College Courant, obtaining for the paper, through his able management, a large circulation and a commanding influence. From the publication of papers Mr. C. entered upon book publication, and issued many valuable and popular works. "Half-Hours with Modern Scientists" was first published as Nos. I-V. of the University Scientific Series. The second volume embraced Nos. VI.-X. of the same series, and contained lectures and essays by Wallace, Roscoe, Higgins, Lockyer, Young, Mayer, Rood, etc. These were followed by Porter's "American Colleges and the American Public,"

"Four Years at Yale," Barker's "Chemistry," Day's "Æsthetics and Logical Praxis," "Songs of Yale," "The Biography of Rev. John Milton Holmes," Yale class histories, etc. He endeavored at the same time to establish a bookstore with his publishing business, but was rather unsuccessful in this enterprise. In 1873 he assumed the publication of the Connecticut School Journal, increasing its value and circulation, in connection with The Courant, then edited by Prof. H. N. Day. In 1874, the Directors of the American Institute of Instruction having accomplished their plan of uniting the educational papers and magazines of New England into one which should represent the best thoughts and movements of the country, Mr. Chatfield was selected, as an experienced publisher, to take charge of the enterprise, and on the first of January, 1875, the first number of the first weekly educational journal in New England was issued under his direction, and it was as the publisher of the New England Journal of Education, for which he had secured a permanent and prosperous career, that he died, cut off in the very flower of his life and usefulness. He leaves a wife and three children.

PERSONAL NOTES.

WE are glad to note the safe return to Paris of M. René Fouret, pleasantly remembered by the American trade as one of the judges at the Centennial Exhibition.

THE Academy says of the new American secretary of legation at London, "Art and literature are both represented in the new American embassy. Mr. William J. Hoppin, the chief secretary of the legation, who arrived in England at the end of June, is not merely an accomplished lawyer, but is also well known to American readers as a cultivated and serious art critic. He has been for some time a notable contributor to the Atlantic Monthly magazine, and he is now writing in L'Art a very interesting account of the present state of American art."

MR. J. W. BOUTON has just returned from London, having had his usual good fortune in picking up rarities.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK.—Messrs. E. L. Gates and Judah L. Taintor have been admitted to the firm of Taintor Bros. & Co., and the style of the firm is changed to Taintor Brothers, Merrill & Co.

RUTLAND, VT.—Tuttle & Co. have purchased the stock in trade of Louis Martell, consisting of wall-papers, borders and decorations, and added same to their stock at 11 Centre street. They have a large trade in that branch of their business.

STATIONERY NOTES.

Brief descriptions of new goods, with small cuts illustrative of novelties, business changes, and personal notes, inserted without charge. Subscribers may benefit each other, and enhance the value of these columns, by promptly communicating any local item of interest to the trade.

JOHN GIBSON, 82 Beekman street, New York, has made some additions to his already large list of reward-cards, etc. Among them is a line of day-school rewards, printed on superfine fawn-tinted cardboard, in chromo style, with another style printed on white cardboard, with a gold border of elegant design. His Sunday-school cards are also tasteful, being printed in various attractive designs in blue and gold, having a chromo in the centre and appropriate verses from the Bible at the bottom. He has also an elegant line printed in two tints of border, and with chromos in the centre, $2\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ inches and $1\frac{1}{2} \times 2$ inches in size. His latest novelty in this line are the framed pictures and mottoes, as they are called, which are made on pasteboard, embossed, and with a loop to hang them by. The pictures are handsome little chromos of many designs, and the mottoes, such as "I am the Good Shepherd," etc., are very beautiful, and will undoubtedly meet with great favor in the trade. This house has also a new design in marriage certificates, handsomely engraved and lithographed in black and gold, with tinted background. In the two upper corners are spaces for the cartes de visite of the bride and groom, and underneath a trimly-built schooner is represented as starting on the voyage of life, accompanied by a dove bearing the olive-branch of peace. This, we presume, is a preventative of meeting on board. It is printed on bristol-board, and intended to be framed.

WARD'S Improved Sabbath-School Money-Envelopes are of cloth-lined paper, which makes them very strong. They are designed to keep the account of money received from each class for one year, and have spaces ruled or printed for each Sunday in the year; divisions are also arranged for monthly totals, quarterly returns, and the grand total for the year. They are copyrighted, and are sold to the trade by N. D. Ward, 150 Nassau street, New York, at 50 cents per dozen, retail.

J. B. SHAW has started on a Southern trip with a fine line of samples of games, the specialty of E. G. Selchow & Co., 41 John street, New York, whom he represents. Among them are the line of Adams' well-known patented games, which this house has recently bought up. Their sliced animals have met with such favor that they have concluded to add a new game of sliced birds, which will be very amusing. Mr. Shaw has a very extensive line of samples in cards, toy-books, etc., and Southern merchants who have not purchased their fall goods will have a favorable chance of selecting their fall stock in these lines.

GEO. M. JACOBS & Co., 121 Duane street, New York, have a handsome new line of crayon and floral mottoes in large variety, which are selling rapidly.

ABM. ACKERMAN, agent, 29 Beekman street, New York, has engaged W. R. Deming to represent him on the road. He will soon start with a very handsome line of samples in fine wedding and fancy stationery.

THE Paper Manufacturers' Association, together with other manufacturing organizations in the Austro-Hungarian Empire interested in the paper trade, at a recent meeting adopted the new imperial decimal system of weights and measures as applying to paper manufacture, by which the ream is made to contain 1000 sheets, and the quire 100 sheets.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE Athenæum for August 19th has an interesting article, called out by the recent death of Mr. Charles Whittingham, on the Chiswick Press. A complete history from 1792 to 1860 is announced.

THE Chronique of the Journal de la Librairie for August 12th contains an account of the excursion to Atlantic City, by M. Ed. Terquem, the French representative at Philadelphia.

THE International Review for September-October is a varied number, really international in character. To literary people the salient feature will be the brief paper on Lord Macaulay, in which the historian Freeman pays tribute to him as his master in style. Thomas Brassey, M.P., discusses "The English Labor Question;" Chas. Tennyson Turner contributes a sonnet; Kinahan Cornwallis describes the New York Clearing-House, and there are a variety of other able papers. In the department a "Letter to Americans on Art in Europe," by P. G. Hamerton, is especially to be noted.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE Lippincotts have now ready new editions of several of their most popular school-books, including revised editions of Cutter's physiologies, Sanford's arithmetics, Chauvinet's mathematical series, and others. They have also nearly ready the "Stranger's Illustrated Pocket-Guide to Philadelphia," a profusely illustrated handbook to the city, with the combined advantages of being legible, portable, handsome, and cheap; as also Part II. of "Notes on Building Construction," with woodcuts. They have in press several volumes of poetry, handsomely illustrated, notably the "Village School," by the author of "Child Nature."

WE have from the Springfield Republican the following remarks concerning some of Roberts Brothers' announcements, previously mentioned in the WEEKLY: "Dr. Walker, the one great preacher of Harvard College in our time, left behind him many sermons, some of which will be published by Roberts in the autumn. 'The Young Man's Dream of Life, and Other Sermons' is the title; and most of them, no doubt, were written for the young men in college. The book will be the best volume of sermons lately printed in this country. Mr. John Weiss no longer prints his sermons, as such, but his Shakespeare lectures will be published by Roberts soon, under the title of 'Wit, Humor, and Shakespeare.' The book is crammed with wit, and abounds in subtle, delicate criticism, often profound and far-reaching. The same publishers have in press a volume of selections from Marcus Antoninus—the first volume of what they call 'The Wisdom Series,' which is to contain ancient and modern morality and wisdom."

THE autobiography of Harriet Martineau will be published in the fall by James R. Osgood & Co., accompanied by a Memoir from her intimate friend, Mrs. Maria Weston Chapman, of Weymouth.

THE American News Company announces for publication in October a work entitled "The Picturesque Tourist," which is described as a pocket-guide for the use of travellers between Europe, America, Australia, India, Japan, and China. In that part of the work which relates to the United States the several great East and West lines of travel are to be included, and the whole book is to be abundantly supplied with maps and illustrations.

MR. B. R. CURTIS, of Boston, has written a book of travel, which James R. Osgood & Co. will publish. It is called "Dottings Round the Circle," and treats of Japan, China, India, Egypt, Italy, France, and England.

GENERAL LEW. WALLACE is writing a new novel. His "Fair God" has just reached its sixth edition.

IT is announced that M. Offenbach is writing a book on music in America, which will be published simultaneously in Paris, New York, and Vienna, in French, English, and German.

THE American Tract Society have just copyrighted for their "Teacher's Bible," large paper edition, a new map of Modern Palestine, 21 x 14, of which a proof is at hand. It contains the most recent discoveries, and is altogether admirable. In the Bible it is printed on the finest bond paper, and it will prove a valuable addition to this superb edition.

J. W. BOUTON, with Trübner & Co., has arranged for an entire edition of Lord Amberley's "Analysis of Religious Belief" for publication in America.

THE Baillière, Paris, have just added to their Library of Contemporary History a volume under the title "Histoire de l'Amérique du Sud," by Alfred Deberle.

"A YEAR IN WESTERN FRANCE," a descriptive volume of French town and country life, is in preparation by Miss Bentham-Edwards, who has been in France for the past twelve months, part of which time was spent in travelling through Brittany, Anjou, La Vendée, and Poitou.

A MARVEL of cheap book-making is Beaujean's "Petit Dictionnaire Universel," abridged from Littré's French Dictionary, a short 12mo volume of 908 pages, just published by Hachette & Co. at 3 fr.

A NEW novel by the author of "Madoiselle Mori" will be an early volume in the "Leisure Hour Series."

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

BY WILLIAM D. HOWELLS.

With a Biographical Sketch of

WILLIAM A. WHEELER,

AND PORTRAITS OF BOTH THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

In one volume, 12mo, cloth, $1.25; paper, 75 cents.

In this volume Mr. Howells has not only given a clear and succinct account of Gov. Hayes' public life, including his career at the Bar, in the Army, in Congress, and as Governor of Ohio, but from the valuable material placed at his disposal he has been able to give an insight into the private life and character of the man who now stands so prominently before the nation, which will charm and delight all who peruse it. Gov. Hayes' opinions on the prominent questions which absorbed public attention during the years of his early manhood, are shown by extracts from his speeches, letters, and private journal, while his convictions on civil service reform, a sound currency, equal rights, and other living topics of to-day, are shown to be of no mushroom formation, but to have been deliberately received and emphatically expressed many years before they came into the arena of politics. Mr. Howells has portrayed, with all his grace of style, the character of a man whom the American people may well be proud to elevate to the highest office within their gift, and the biography will make a marked impression upon the public mind.

The sketch of Hon. William A. Wheeler has been prepared by a competent hand, and the book will be published immediately, and sold through the trade, and will also be issued in a cheap and popular form for campaign clubs, etc. Orders should be sent in at once to insure being promptly filled from the first edition.

BROWN'S IMPROVED DOUBLE-POINT BRASS PAPER FASTENER.

DEAR SIR: I respectfully call your attention to the above superior article, and herewith request that you will give it a place in your stock, satisfied that as soon as it is afforded an opportunity to reach the consumer the demand therefore will become permanently established.

These Fasteners will be found to possess many advantages over any other in the market, among which are the following:

1st. Sharpness of point, which enables them to pierce many thicknesses of the heaviest paper.

2d. They hold the paper firm and in a parallel position, which Fasteners with one prong can never do.

3d. The appearance after fastening is very neat, and all the advantage of a Double-Plate Fastener is obtained.

4th. No Press, Punch, Pen-knife or Instrument of any kind required in their application, which can not be said of any other Fastener in the market.

5th. The price is as low as any other, and only one Fastener is required to perform the same duty as required by any other two.

Directions.—By standing the Fastener on its base with the prongs upward, and pressing the paper down, a large number of sheets can be filed or fastened with the greatest ease and regularity.

They are put up very convenient for retailing, being one hundred in a small box, and packed in cases containing 10 boxes or one thousand.

Price List—Per M., $2.50. Subject to discount for quantities.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The No Name Series.

From the Boston Daily Advertiser.

"LEIGH HUNT, in his 'Indicator,' has a pleasant chapter on the difficulty he encountered in seeking a suitable and fresh title for a collection of his miscellaneous writings. Messrs. Roberts Brothers have just overcome a similar difficulty in the simplest manner. In selecting 'NO NAME' they have selected the very best title possible for a series of Original American Novels and Tales, to be published anonymously. These novels are to be written by eminent authors, and in each case the authorship of the work is to remain an inviolable secret. 'No Name' describes the series perfectly. No name will help the novel, or the story, to success. Its success will depend solely on the writer's ability to catch and retain the reader's interest. Several of the most distinguished writers of American fiction have agreed to contribute to the series, the initial volume of which is now in press. Its appearance will certainly be awaited with curiosity."

The plan thus happily foreshadowed will be immediately inaugurated by the publication of "MERCY PHILBRICK'S CHOICE," from the pen of a well-known and successful writer of fiction.

The "No Name Series" will be issued at convenient intervals, in handsome library form, 16mo, cloth, $1 each.

Mercy Philbrick's Choice

Will be ready September 15. Also at same time

Imaginary Conversations.

By Walter Savage Landor. First Series, CLASSICAL DIALOGUES, to be followed immediately by the Second and Third Series, completing the work. Square 12mo, cloth, $2 each.

The trade will oblige us by sending in their orders promptly.

PHILADELPHIA.

Harding's Editions of the Bible have been favorably known to the Trade for about half a century, and therefore do not require much description. Our aim has been to maintain the reputation of the house, and we think it is beyond dispute that our Bibles are by far the best and cheapest in the country. We would call especial attention to our new editions of the Bible, recently issued. They are very handsome and exceedingly low in price. Our facilities for the manufacture of these goods are unsurpassed, enabling us to produce a better article than can elsewhere be procured at the same price. All orders entrusted to us will be carefully and promptly executed.

Catalogues sent free on application.

Harding's Patent Indestructible Chain Back and other Photo-graph Albums are pronounced by competent judges to be the most substantial ever made. The Patent Chain Back combines flexibility with great strength, and is absolutely secure from any breaking or tearing. Our present list embraces many new styles, which commend themselves for their beauty and superior finish. We have enlarged the Quarto Albums, and now manufacture them from entirely new stock, giving a wider margin to the pages and consequently making a handsomer book. We have also a new line of cheap Photo-graph Albums, in cloth, velvet and morocco bindings, which are well adapted for the jobbing trade. The Stereoscopic and Photo-scopic Albums, and the Spectrographic Album are novelties which have been lately introduced.
